

FRIDAY FOLLIES

June 13, 2008

Hey!

June 13, 2008

Happy Father's Day weekend!

It should be beautiful weather here -- finally! We had four days where it was over 100 degrees this week - in JUNE! Records were set. Just brutal! Not as brutal as the floods in the great river valleys, though... Anyway, it promises to be nice for the next week or so, and I am very excited about that!

Not only is it Father's Day, but my Jeremy had a birthday this week, too. Birthdays aren't as big of a deal when you get older, but the cute thing is, everyone still appreciates a cake, card, and a gift to open. Right? It was really very sweet -- HE is very sweet! Happy Birthday, son.

I am having a wonderful week with friends and simply relaxing. The Follies will be very short this week. Just too relaxed to put too terribly much into them...

Dinner and movies and such with good friends, and the I am headed to Nags Head for a little breather this next week. Looking forward to it. Probably only going for a couple of days, but just getting away will be awesome! Sometimes you just need a change of scenery.

I tried out a couple of really good new recipes this week. Will include them soon. One is Blue Cheese and Roasted Red Onions! UMMM!

Had a surprise visit from an old friend who is retired and now lives in Florida! It was great to see you, Mike, and have a wonderful time in Prague! I know how much you love it there!

Trying to get back into painting again. The best I have done is to get out the art books and read for inspiration! Read a great book on Picasso and several others on technique and the history of modern art. Now - for a few rainy days - and I will feel inspired to start it again!

Took a few photos for cookbook three - Just Judi's Favorites • Volume Three • Soups - but not nearly enough to do the book yet. The "book" part is finished. I will find time to do the photos. Really kinda waiting on my garden to produce... Here are a few samples of what I took this week though. Isn't God amazing....

Well, I have a few other things going on, but really don't want to go into all of it right now. Good stuff. I'll catch you up next week. Thanks to those of you who stay in touch. I appreciate it more than you can know.

OK! I will leave you with a birthday salute to my Jeremy, and a memory page of my sweet Daddy.

Have a GREAT one!

Happy Birthday, Jeremy

HAPPY FATHER'S DAY!
I hope it is magnificent!

Check out Volume TWO! I am so excited! They have a new cover design which wraps around the whole book, and it is just awesome! Check out the first fifteen pages of the second volume at <http://www.blurb.com/bookstore/detail/241008> Too bad you cannot see the back half of the book there -- which is sandwiches! Yummm!

PS. NOTE OF CAUTION... 20 employees were fired from The New York Times here in Norfolk for sending lewd and indecent emails. (To my knowledge, none of the 20 were on our joke list - even though some of the attorneys who represent the company were!) I have asked each and every one of you on this list to tell me if the jokes that accompany these "Follies" place you in jeopardy, or even if they offend you. Please understand that they are intended to be light-hearted and are not mean-spirited in any way. If you are ever offended, do not hesitate to ask to be taken off the Friday Follies Joke List. PSS. If you send a joke and I don't use it, it is because it has been used before, and I try not to repeat. Remember, I have been sending these since August of 1997. One tends to go through huge numbers of jokes that way. Disclaimer: When anyone asks if I type all of these jokes, the answer is, "No!" I cut and paste one evening during the week (30 minutes, TOPS). Obviously I don't have time to sit, read, and retype jokes all day!
