

FRIDAY FOLLIES

August 31, 2007

Hey!

The movie is posted! Go to the address below (cut and paste to your browser if it does not “pick up”) and click on the last movie. It is posted as Jessica and Ricky’s Wedding, August 12, 2007, but it is not actually of the wedding - so we need to change that to something like “Jessica and Ricky’s Wedding Reception Movie” to be more accurate...

It is the movie they asked me to make for their reception. (I might make a movie of the wedding, soon.) The actual wedding pictures came in today. I will try to pick up a DVD of them this weekend and send you a few that the “professional” photographer took. (Maybe there will even be one of me and Jeremy - LOL!)

Anyway, when you watch this movie, remember that it is scaled down “big-time” in order to put it on the web. It was shown on a big screen TV at the Jewish Mother before. The photos really do not have enough power to focus completely using the “Ken Burns” effect. It is still cool, though. Watch it to the end. It has a theme, believe it or not. The kids turned the music to the movie off and danced to their own music all night long watching all of the pictures. Then later, the music to the movie was turned back up again to enjoy.

I hope you like it. I certainly enjoyed making it.

Thank you to John C. who saved the day when my DVD burner died on me two days before the wedding, and thanks to Kevin S. who posted it to the website for me (one of the few things I have not learned how to do for myself, yet!)

Now, go to:

<http://www.judiwithani.com/movies.php>
and enjoy!

Jokes will follow. If not tonight (I have a huge night of work ahead of me) then sometime this weekend. Don’t worry. I still have all of your jokes. Thank you all so much! Plus, I may just do another issue of the Follies this weekend because there is so much to tell you!!!!!!

Pray for our troops... I have a feeling we are getting closer...

Grow in peace and wisdom, Your Friday Friend,

Judi Godsey
www.judiwithani.com