Hey! August 25, 2006

Back-to-school time! Man, it hit BIG TIME this week! Not only were all of the faculty, coaches, and staff back, but so were all of the new families and students. Just slammed. All of our students (over 1,000) start back on Monday. I just love the first day of school! Such incredible anticipation... remember?

In addition to that, Jeremy surprised me and flew in from California for a brief visit this week. It was wonderful to have him home since I had not seen him since June - over a year ago! Too long! We had a nice visit, but he did exactly what he said he was going to do and that was to rest. He said, "Mom, I'm not coming home to party with friends and do a lot of stuff. I am coming home to REST!" And rest he did. He started his business in Lake Tahoe eight months ago, and he has been working non-stop day and night since. He was really over tired. I wanted to take more photos, but honestly - he slept most of the time! LOL! I think we all only went out to eat once and went to one movie the whole time he was here. Just enjoyed being at home.

The amazing thing is that with computers and cell phones, he ran a lot of his business from here. Never missed a lick. His company, Blueline Transportation, has four cars now - Audis no less - and he seems to be doing great. He loves it. I hope it stays that way for him. But seriously, how many taxi companies do you know that have Audis? He gets great gas millage (at $3.50 a gallon in California) and they are all-wheel drive, so they are great for the snow. With so many hotels, casinos, golf courses and ski resorts right there and in Reno, he stays very, very busy. Good for him!

In addition to that...

Jessica moved into her new house this week and weekend. It was brutally hot, but once again, "Pearl" saved the day. Her house is adorable and she is literally right down the street from me - well, four or five miles, but still...

She also pleased me because she bought her bedroom suit (she?) at a Thrift Store - something she never would have done a couple of years ago. She picked out a beautiful, wooden inlaid, antique bedroom set and we got it for a song! Jeremy, Jessica, and I piled into "Pearl" and went to the Thrift Store to pick it up. I mean, it was HOT! Well, as luck would have it, when we left the house, there was not a cloud in the sky.

But by the time we loaded it all up and got back on the road, of course, a thunderstorm broke loose. They wanted to stop and get a tarp, and I kept telling them that it was like a convertible - as long as we were moving, it would not get that wet, and since we were on the interstate, we should be fine. You should have heard them! LOL! It was hilarious! According to them, it was going to be warped and water stained by the time we got to Jess's and we would have to throw it away!

The storm blew over before we got there, and by the time we unloaded it, you could not tell it had even rained. Not a drop on it. Needless to say, they never said a word about it. LOL!

She also painted and we shopped for "stuff." Like I said, a very busy week, indeed.

Oh, by the way, Jessica's 80's Prom Night Birthday Party movie that her friend sent me would not load properly, so I went ahead and made one of my own. Check it out on the Movie Page of the website.

I really think it is cute, but the one her friend made had a lot more photos from the party. Maybe I can figure that out sometime.

Also continued to experiment with the figs until I got the perfect recipe for Fig Conserve. I made it about four times and canned it, but was never really satisfied with it. Then, this week, I figured out what I thought it was missing, and MAN -- I NAILED IT! It is soooooo good! So, if you are one of those friends who got a sample jar of it before this week... don't count it out. You will need to try some of this new! That wasn't terrible, just a little bland, but this is OUT of this WORLD good! Hmmm. Maybe I am onto something here... (smile!)

There were a couple of parties this week and at one for my work, I was the "unofficial photographer." Two different times during the party, friends grabbed the camera and said they were going to take one of me because I never had one made at these things since I was always taking them. Real sweet! Geeze, I am getting so old looking - I really would rather be on the "taking" end! Ya know?

I also had a blind date that I was not too thrilled with a couple of weeks ago. (NOT this photo - this photo is of my buddy and the drama coach, Jim!) But, I mean, the date was OK, just absolutely nothing special. He was not someone I would have gone out with again, that is for sure. Well, before the night was over, he was asking me out for the next weekend, and I just could not "go there."

I mean, he was nice enough, I just was not interested at all. (I hate it when that happens!) Well, I guess it "ticked him off" or hurt his ego, because he went back to my friend who had set us up and said some things to him about me that really upset me. He tried to act like he knew everything about me and how I felt about this and that - like we had been dating for a while or something. My friend just laughed it off and knew it was just an "ego thing," but it really showed me that dating is a royal PAIN in the Arse! Yuck! LOL!

Almost finished with my song! Put it on paper this week. May share it soon... we'll see. OK. Gotta go. HUGE day tomorrow. Have a great week and visit the site again soon. Love to you, all. (Except you fella...LOL! What a Kook!)

FRIDAY FOLLIES
AUGUST 25, 2006

To all of you on my Friday Follies List, whether you are in Manila, Singapore, Kuwait, Bermuda, Virginia Beach, Mississippi, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Minnesota, Indiana, Colorado, Lake Tahoe, Philadelphia, Key West, New Jersey, North Carolina, Indonesia, Washington D.C., Iraq, Costa Rica, Maryland, West (By-God) Virginia, Nashville, Florida, Saudi Arabia, Chattanooga, New York, Oregon, Russia, Maine, Australia, Europe, or Yuma, have a wonderful, wonderful week!

God bless.
Remember, life is short...we need to make it a good one.
Grow in peace and wisdom.

Your Friday Friend,

Judi Godsey

PS. NOTE OF CAUTION. . . 20 employees were fired from The New York Times here in Norfolk for sending lewd and indecent emails. (To my knowledge, none of the 20 were on our joke list - even though some of the attorneys who represent the company were!) I have asked each and every one of you on this list to tell me if the jokes that accompany these "Follies" place you in jeopardy, or even if they offend you. Please understand that they are intended to be light-hearted and are not mean-spirited in any way. If you are ever offended, do not hesitate to ask to be taken off the Friday Follies Joke List. PSS. If you send a joke and I don't use it, it is because it has been used before, and I try not to repeat. Remember, I have been sending these since August of 1997. One tends to go through huge numbers of jokes that way. Disclaimer: When anyone asks if I type all of these jokes, the answer is, "No." I cut and paste one evening during the week (30 minutes, TOPS). Obviously I don't have time to sit, read, and retype jokes all day!
